Ex-deputy clerks plead guilty

by Lilly Adkins
ASSOCIATE EDITOR

INEZ — Formal sentencing is scheduled Sept. 5 for two former deputy clerks who pleaded guilty last week to charges related to money missing from the Martin County Clerk's Office.

Ex-deputy county clerks Tamberlyn Hairston, 41, and her sister, Tonya Mills, 47, represented by the public defender's office, pleaded guilty Thursday morning in Martin Circuit Court after entering plea deals with the commonwealths attorney office.

Hairston was charged with abuse of public trust under $10,000 and four counts of second-degree criminal possession of a forged instrument.

Mills was originally charged with abuse of public trust greater than $10,000, which was amended in the plea agreement to less than $10,000.

The plea agreements recommend five-year prison sentences for the women, who are the daughters of Martin County Clerk Carol Sue Mills.

Hairston will remain free on bond until her formal sentencing, and Mills opted to remain incarcerated since both women will be given credit for the time they have already served.

Hairston and Mills were indicted in December 2012 on charges of abuse of public trust shortly after State Auditor Adam Edelen released the findings of an audit of the clerk's 2011 financial statement and

Kline indicted on federal charges

by Tony Fyffe
BSN MANAGING EDITOR

PIKEVILLE — Arraignment will be next week for a Johnson County man indicted last week on federal drug charges.

A federal grand jury returned a 12-count indictment Thursday against John Thomas Kline, 42, of West Van Lear.

Kline, who indicated earlier this year that he would run for Johnson County sheriff in 2014, told a confidential informant that he was one of the county's biggest drug dealers, according to court records.

The indictment charges Kline with distribution and possession with intent to distribute Oxycodone, Carisoprodol and Alprazolam; carrying a firearm during and in relation to drug trafficking; and possession of a firearm by an unlawful user of marijuana.

The indictment claims Kline distributed a quantity of Oxycodone in Floyd County July 19, 2011, Aug. 12, 2011, and Oct. 12, 2011; and in Johnson County April 13, 2012, and July 5 of this year.

The indictment also says Kline distributed Alprazolam and Carisoprodol in Johnson County May 9 and July 5 of this year.

That was the same day Kline carried a loaded Kel-Tec 9-millimeter semiautomatic pistol and several other firearms, according to the INEZ — The Martin County Board of Education voted Thursday to close Sheldon Clark High School and also pushed back to Aug. 21 the date for school to begin.

The board made its decision at a special meeting at Inez Middle School after hearing several comments from the audience and listening to their concerns about the situation.

A motion to merge Inez Middle School with Warfield Middle School was made by board chairman Craig Preece and seconded by board member, Gary Ball, with all members in favor of the decision.

Preece also made a motion to vacate SCHS, effective Aug. 1, which was seconded by Ball and with all in favor.

Preece asked for a motion to amend the school calendar, and Ball made the motion with board member Donetta Harless seconding and all in favor.

The board then voted to go into executive session for the purpose of discussing personnel issues and a potential lawsuit, but no further

Area man injured in skydiving accident

LUMBERTON, Miss. — A Johnson County man is in critical condition in a Mississippi hospital and an instructor is dead following a skydiving accident Saturday in which equipment malfunction is being cited as the probable cause.

David Meek, 26, of Paintsville, reportedly suffered multiple injuries, including a spinal injury.

According to WDAM-TV of Mississippi, officials said at least five skydivers jumped from a plane at approximately 11:30 a.m. Saturday, but two of them — Meek and the instructor, Jimmy Horak, 57, of Pensacola, Fla., jumped in a tandem.

Tandem skydiving or tandem parachuting refers to a type of skydiving where a student skydiver is connected to a harness attached to a tandem instructor. The instructor guides the student through the whole jump from exit through free fall, piloting the canopy and landing. The student needs only minimal instruction before making a tandem jump with the instructor.

It reportedly took several hours for emergency personnel to locate Meek and Horak, who were found approximately one mile from the LOUISA — InSite Consulting met with local officials and business leaders in Lawrence County Friday to release the results of its analysis for economic development in Lawrence, Martin, Floyd, Johnson, Magoffin, Pike, Letcher and Knott counties and to offer a solution to benefit the entire region.

Kentucky Power Company retained InSite Consulting, an economic development and site selection firm based in Greer, S.C., to develop initiatives and execute items to assist the Southeast Chamber of Commerce with forming a regional economic development program for the eight-county region at no cost to the counties.

InSite Consulting representatives were assigned with the task of assessing each of the counties in the region, creating an organizational development and execution model and generating a regional organization blueprint for the future by outlining the organizational structure and strategic plan indictment, which also seeks forfeiture of those weapons.

Kline is scheduled to be arraigned Aug. 12 in U.S. District Court at Pikeville.

An affidavit by a U.S. Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms and Explosives filed last month detailed the investigation of Kline. Special Agent Ronald Sabotchick said in the affidavit that he interviewed a registered ATF confidential informant on June 26.

“During the interview, the CI advised that John Kline has told the CI within the past month that he is one of the largest pill dealers in (the) Johnson County, Kentucky area,” the affidavit says. “The CI advised that Kline carries a 9 millimeter firearm and has shown it to the CI within the past month.”

The informant also said that Kline “had inquired about acquiring explosives from the CI to get even with someone for making a controlled narcotics purchase from him.”

“On June 27, 2013, the CI and Kline had a conversation in which the CI asked Kline if he would be interested in having someone killed and/or harm the person Kline wanted to get even with. Kline said he would,” the affidavit says. “The CI and Kline discussed Kline making a payment of 20 Oxycodone 30 milligram pills for having this done. The CI told SA Sabotchick that he and Kline were discussing a previous conversation from a few days prior in which Kline had told the CI he wanted to acquire some explosives from the CI to put in someone’s car to teach them a lesson because that person had worn a wire for the police when making a drug buy from him.”

Kline called the informant July 2 and told him that he was in Indianapolis, Ind., “trying to get his prescriptions filled but was having trouble getting them filled and was making plans to go to Atlanta, Georgia to get them filled,” the affidavit said. “During a subsequent phone conversation on July 2, 2013, John Kline asked the CI if he would like to invest some money in Kline’s doctor-prescription filling trip to Georgia.”

Kline met July 4 with the CI at the informant’s place of business in Johnson County, according to the affidavit.

“During the conversation which was audio recorded and reviewed by the Affiant, the CI asked Kline if Kline was able to get his prescriptions filled,” the affidavit says. “Kline advised the CI he travelled to Indiana that morning, was able to get the prescription filled and was back in town by 4:30 that afternoon.”

The CI asked Kline if he would bring him some of the 30-milligram Oxycodone the next day, the affidavit says, adding that Kline “further advised the CI that he was going out of town the following week to get additional prescriptions filled and was taking two people with him.”

“The CI asked if he could go with Kline during the trip and Kline said he could,” the affidavit says.

Kline also told the informant that he also gets Soma and Xanax pills delivered to his house in brown boxes, according to the affidavit.

“The CI asked Kline what the wholesale price would be if he wanted to purchase some additional pills (Oxycodone) along with the pills for the payment for hiring someone to kill or hurt (the person),” the affidavit says. “After further discussion, Kline and CI agreed to put off the job for now. Kline told the CI that there would be too much publicity and a lot of attention would be on him if something happened to (the person).”

In addition, Kline offered to sell 30-milligram Oxycodone pills to the informant for $30 each and also asked the CI “about helping to fund Kline’s doctor-prescription trip the following week.” Kline told the informant he would need about $1,150 and “could triple his money,” the affidavit says.

“The CI and Kline continued to discuss the purchase of 30 milligram Oxycodone pills and Kline made the offer to sell the CI 100 30 milligram pills for $3000.00 cash,” the affidavit says. “The CI asked Kline about traveling across state lines with the prescription pills and Kline told the CI that as long as the pill count was good everything would be fine. Kline then pulled a 9 millimeter pistol from his pocket and said if you get caught with this ‘you’re f--- ed.’ Kline said that guns and drugs do not mix and it would be a federal felony. This meeting was audio recorded and the recording was reviewed by the Affiant.”

The CI confirmed with Kline the purchase of the 100 30-milligram Oxycodone pills, and Kline advised the informant that the “pills were two different brands but they were the same type of pills,” the affidavit says.

During a July 5 phone conversation with the CI, Kline arranged to sell the pills to the informant later in the day at the CI’s business, according to the affidavit.

“The CI was provided with $3000.00 in buy money from the Kentucky State Police and was searched with negative results for drugs and weapons,” the affidavit said. “Both an audio and video recording devices were placed in the CI’s place of business by law enforcement personnel.”

Kline arrived at the business at approximately 5:45 p.m. July 5, the affidavit said.

“The CI and Kline went to the back room of the business where Kline provided the CI with 100 30 milligram Oxycodone pills and the CI gave Kline the $3000.00 in buy money. During the transaction Kline pulled a Kel-Tec 9mm pistol from his pocket and brandished it to the CI and said he unloaded that particular gun on someone in the past,” the affidavit says.

Kline was arrested by the KSP when he left the business, according to the affidavit.

“During a subsequent search of Kline’s person the $3000.00 in buy money was recovered from Kline along with a loaded Kel-Tec 9mm pistol,” the affidavit says. “Additionally, 100 30 milligram Oxycodone pills were recovered from the CI and he confirmed that Kline had sold him the pills. The pills have markings that identify them as containing Oxycodone. Members of the Johnson County Sheriff’s Office reviewed the audio and video recording and relayed the information to your Affiant that the recordings accurately reflect the information set forth . . .”

found a number of problems, not only with the 2011 financial statement but also in a review of the 2012 accounts in which more than $16,000 in un-deposited cash receipts were discovered.

Mills and Hairston were fired from their job by their mother in August 2012 after funds were reportedly found missing from the office.

According to her indictment, on or before Jan. 9 through July 14, 2012, Mills obtained and dealt with public money or property subject to a known legal obligation to make a specified payment or disposition as her own, by intentionally failing to make the required payment or disposition of the property when she retained for her use funds of the clerk’s office in an amount over $10,000.

According to Hairston’s indictment, on or about March 17, 2011, through June 21, 2012, Hairston, also known as Tammy Perry, obtained and dealt with public money or property subject to a known legal obligation to make a specified payment or disposition as her own, by intentionally failing to make the required payment or disposition of the property when she retained for her use funds of the clerk’s office in an amount under $10,000.

On Oct. 15, 2011, Hairston was allegedly in possession of a forged check made to Kathy Preece in the amount of $350, with the intent to defraud; on Oct. 21, 2011, she was allegedly in possession of a forged check made to Tim Smith in the amount of $175 with the intent to defraud; on Oct. 28, 2011, she was in possession of a forged check made to Kathy Preece in the amount of $420 with the intent to defraud; and on Nov. 11, 2011, she was in possession of a forged check made to Kathy Preece in the amount of $320 with the intent to defraud.

The missing funds have reportedly been paid back to the clerk’s office.

airport in a swampy area near Lumberton.

CNN reported that the other jumpers noticed that Meek and Horak were having some kind of equipment problem and perhaps a problem with the lines but that they didn’t realize how serious it was until after they landed, and Meek and Horak were no where to be found.

CNN also said Meek and Horak landed on leased hunting land and a hunting club member found them, according to Lamar County Sheriff Danny Rigel, who also said Meek was transported to Forrest General Hospital by Baptist Life Flight.

The Federal Aviation Administration will inspect the parachutes to determine if they were properly rigged by a qualified parachute rigger. The agency will also determine if the parachute operation was in compliance with federal regulations, FAA spokeswoman Kathleen Bergen said, according to CNN.

SCHS: Students moved to middle school building

Board members made the decision to close the school because of reports from inspectors saying they “believe the structure has questionable adequacy to resist a significant wind, or seismic event,” and the continued blasting with rocks falling onto the parking lot was too much of a risk to the lives of the students.

Rocks fell onto the parking lot again Tuesday evening, causing even more concern.

“Safety of our kids is our number one priority,” superintendent Steve Meadows said. “Risks are simply unacceptable and the blasting compounded with the age of the building is too much of a risk.”

There were questions from the audience as to why the decision was made to make Inez Middle School the high school instead of Warfield Middle School.

“What ruled Warfield out as the high school?” SCHS student Megan Moore asked.

“The decision was based on data,” Meadows said. “It doesn’t have the facility space to receive and instruct that many students and secondly it’s the cost of transportation.”

SCHS Principal Robbie Fletcher explained that SCHS currently has an enrollment of 590 students and Warfield has a capacity of only receiving approximately 470 students.

“Inez has room for approximately 200 more students,” Fletcher told the BSN.

SCHS teacher Nina McCoy asked who gave the go-ahead to tear down the mountain over the school.

“Somebody’s got a lot of explaining to do,” McCoy said. “(State Rep.) Hubie Collins needs to find us money to build a school, whether it be from coal severance, or his kickbacks.”

McCoy also advised people in attendance that they should contact Collins.

“The positive to this is that no one’s been hurt,” Meadows said. “I agree with you somebody’s got some explaining to do.”

SCHS student Katy Maynard asked whether they would be able to keep the name Sheldon Clark and added that she didn’t want her diploma to say Martin County High School.

“I’m very sensitive and appreciative of the heritage, but I don’t know what will happen,” Meadows said.

One individual questioned how they planned to make the middle school more of a high school.

Fletcher explained that the facilities plan calls for a science wing and a new gym and said that he has been on the phone with the East Kentucky Expo Center regarding the Fast Lane Classic.

“This move is tough for me if it happens,” Fletcher said. “We have a responsibility to the class of 2014 to make this year special and we may have to take some students to Pikeville for chemistry lab for now, but I am in support of safety and we will do all we can to fulfill the obligation to our kids.”

One of the major concerns at the forum was athletic events and where they will be held given the fact that none of the middle schools have a regulation-size gym floor, which is 84 feet.

SCHS assistant girls basketball coach Jason Wefenstet questioned the decision.

“The last few board meetings I’ve attended, we were faced with a deficit and this stuff all sounds great and everyone talks a good game, but where’s the money going to come from?” Wefenstet asked. “This floor is not regulation and last year we paid out our budget $4,000 that parents raised. We have about 60 games, are we going to have all away games? Whose going to pay for that? You need about 17 million to build a new school and it’s going to probably take $3-4 million to renovate this building. This building’s not up to code. You going to put our kids here and they be safe? Can this building withstand a tornado. Has it been inspected?”

said. “Otherwise, it would be like this building. What is an acceptable level of risk? Our number one priority is for instruction and teachers in the classroom.”

Questions were also asked regarding the loss of jobs and if there is a loss how they will determine who will be included.

“Right now, I’m working to keep my job,” Meadows said. “If one person loses employment, the impact is 100 percent to them. I don’t want to think about that. I believe that any organization that will be more efficient will also include a reduction in force. If a business downsizes, there must be a reduction in force.”

Meadows explained that tenure would not be the only consideration when making a decision on who would lose or keep their job. He also said that the main focus would be on math, science and language arts.

Meadows said that the decision would be based on tenure, seniority, certification and qualifications.

Another person asked what would be done with the property once the school was closed and another suggested moving the board into the high school, saving money for a lease payment.

“I think it is around $80,000 a year,” Meadows said. “I sit where these five people tell me to sit. If we shut the building down, you will save $3-$4 hundred thousand, the day you shut it down, turn off the water and electricity.”

“Physically, nobody was hurt, but it is heartbreaking. Six years ago, SCHS was a fine school. This company needs to be held accountable. I have 34 other schools and that school was fine,” Kentucky Education Association representative Tim Southern said. “If that happened in Ashland or Bowling Green, it would have stopped immediately. My dealings with the superintendent, he’s on the right track and there’s going to be some hard decisions.”

REPORT: Economic development director needed recommendations that takes into account each county’s unique asset and potential liabilities.

In a report provided to local officials, InSite Consulting identified various assets throughout the region, including Gateway Regional and Honey Branch business parks, which are fully infrastructure industrial sites. Other areas listed as assets include Marion’s Branch; the Holland site; Stonecrest; Scott Fork; Chestnut Mountain; East Park; coal fields; ThunderRidge; the Gifford site; the R.J. property; and West Property Group.

Other assets include highway transportation; the Midway College building; the Brown Foodservice building; the Woodmark building; potential excess water and sewer capacity; educational facilities; aviation; rail; and hospitals.

None of the counties involved in the study were completely ready for economics development, according to the report. With nearly all of the assessments, the team, consisting of Tonya Crist and Rob Cornwell, found a lack of unity in that there are no plans for economic development from the regional standpoint.

“They recommended that we join with the other seven counties and hire one economic development director that would work the entire region,” Lawrence County Judge-Executive John Osborne said. “They said the average economic development director is paid about $75,000 a year, but if we were part of the eight counties who hired that person, what we pay would be based upon the number of people in our county. They said that our portion would probably be about $4,000. It would be through the Southeast Chamber of Commerce. I am going to schedule a meeting so that the Chamber of Commerce can come in and explain it to the magistrates.”

by Tony Fyffe
BSN MANAGING EDITOR

PIKEVILLE — Trial for a former Paintsville pain clinic doctor charged with federal drug offenses has been rescheduled.

U.S. District Judge Amul R. Thapar granted a motion by Rano Bofill to continue the trial, originally set for Aug. 19. The new trial date is Sept. 30 in federal court in Lexington.

Bofill's attorney filed a motion in July in U.S. District Court asking for a continuance, saying the request is "not made solely for the purpose of delay."

The attorney, Marc S. Murphy of Louisville, also said the U.S. Attorney's Office "agreed to join" in the motion.

"Both parties are working diligently on a non-trial disposition of this matter, and material progress is being made," the motion said.

Bofill's trial was initially set for May 28, but Thapar granted a defense request for a continuance, rescheduling the trial for Aug. 19 in federal court in Lexington.

Bofill was a doctor at the now-closed Care More Pain Management, which was owned by Tammy Cantrell and Shelby Lackey. All three were indicted in September 2012 on federal charges of conspiring to distribute and unlawfully dispense pain pills at the clinic.

Cantrell, 40, of Oil Springs, and Lackey, 50, of Williamsport, entered guilty pleas in April in U.S. District Court at Pikeville to conspiracy to distribute and unlawfully dispense oxycodone and to maintaining drug-involved premises. They are scheduled to be sentenced Sept. 5.

Bofill was employed by Care More after another doctor, Richard Albert, left and opened his own business. Albert was later indicted on federal drug charges, pleaded guilty and was sentenced in June to 75 months in federal prison.

Approximately 60,000 Percocet pills were distributed by Bofill and Albert while they were employed at Care More, according to court documents.

During Albert's tenure, the Kentucky Attorney General's Office received information and complaints from local law enforcement that the clinic was "seeing large numbers of patients," and investigators from the office conducted surveillance at the facility and on Albert, the agreements say.

After Albert resigned, Cantrell and Lackey hired Bofill, who "largely continued the prescribing practices of Albert," court papers say.

THE VETERANS REFERRAL Center in Paintsville recently donated a 7 1/2-ton heating and cooling system to the city of Paintsville to be used in the Sipp Theater. In addition, volunteers from the center and the Paintsville Independent Order of Odd Fellows worked to install the unit. As a result, the city "realized a substantial savings and the Sipp Theater now has in operation a new heating and cooling system," according to a press release. Pictured left to right are Doug Murphy, director of the Veterans Referral Center; Mayor Bob Porter; and Fred Nelson, treasurer and past state grand master for the Odd Fellows, who presented Porter with a $1,000 check to help offset installation costs for the unit. Nelson and Murphy encouraged other area organizations to "pitch in and help in the restoration and upkeep of the historic Sipp."

Letters to the editor

Editor:

I just want residents of Louisa to know that I apologize for missing our regular council meeting on July 9, but it was beyond my control being sick. There are some things that slip up on you that's beyond our control.

I love our city for I was raised here and I love all the people in it. I'm here every day unless I'm in a meeting or something beyond my control.

I have been able to talk to the state and they have made all our sidewalks wheelchair accessible, that the state owns. I have talked to our state representative Rocky Adkins and he said we will be getting $30,000 to repair some of our worst streets in town not long from now. Actually when the state blacktops Madison Street we will be doing this the same time.

I am doing all I can to get money for our city and will use it when it comes in.

I appreciate the beautification committee for the wonderful job they have done, and, of course, all my employees.

Earl Dean Hayes 1939-2013

LAWRENCE COUNTY — On July 30, 2013, Earl Dean Hayes went to be with the Lord, early in the afternoon at his home while working on The Singing Hayes Family bus. Earl's great passions were the Church, his family and gospel music.

Earl was retired from Kentucky Finance, The Associates, and Dream Homes, as well as having served in the United States Army. He was a 58-year member of Belles Chapel Free Will Baptist Church where he served as a deacon for 44 years, Sunday school teacher for 40+ years and dedicated supporter of the work of the Lord. Earl loved to sing gospel music and traveled extensively over the Eastern United States with the family's gospel music group, The Singing Hayes Family, seeing many souls saved and placing several songs on The Singing News Top 80 chart.

The son of the late Faris and Nova (Stambaugh) Hayes, Earl was preceded in death by two sons: Earl Hayes, II and Norman Wray Hayes; two brothers, James Arthur Hayes and Fred Hayes; and two sisters, Edath Conley and Roberta Vanhooose.

He is survived by his wife of over 50 years, Deloris Vanhooose Hayes; a brother, Bert Hayes of Louisa; a sister, Ruby VanHoose of River; two daughters, Deana Jean Hammond (and Bill Hammond) of Louisa and Kem-ra Vanhooose (and James Vanhooose) of Lowmansville; a son, Paul Hayes (and Angela Hayes) of Louisa; and a daughter-in-law, Tonya Hayes of Louisa.

In addition, he is survived by several grandchildren, Brad Vanhooose (and Sherry Vanhooose) of Inez, Cayla Lemaster (and Allen Lemaster) of Ulysses, Allison Hammond of Louisa, Matthew Hammond of Louisa, Ben Hayes of Louisa and Andrew Hayes of Louisa.

Many times while traveling and singing, pastors would comment on the size of the family and Earl would respond, "I'm going to take as many to Heaven with me as I can." His work behind him, he waits for us in the arms of Jesus and wants to see as many of you as would join him there.

A Home Going service was held on Saturday, Aug. 3, at 11 a.m., at Belles Chapel Freewill Baptist Church by Rev. James Vanhooose and Rev. Willie Gene Hayes. Burial followed in the Hayes Family Cemetery, Route 1760, Louisa. Care was entrusted to Wilson Funeral Home, Louisa.

5 bad tech habits and how to break them

by Kim Komando

Kim Komando hosts the nation's largest talk radio show about consumer electronics, computers and the Internet.

Let's take an informal poll: Raise your hand if you have NO bad habits. Those of you who raised your hands obviously have a habit of lying, so put them back down.

Some bad tech habits are obvious. You use the same password for every account. Maybe you text during family dinners or share too much on Facebook. You definitely want to work on fixing any of these.

There are tech habits, however, you probably don't realize are bad. Let's take a look at five that just might surprise you.

1. Forgetting to clean
When was that last time you cleaned your phone? How about your computer keyboard or mouse? Be honest.

If you can remember cleaning at all, you're doing better than most people. Even then, any answer other than "daily" really isn't a good one.

Just think for a moment about how often you touch your tech gear. Now, think about how often you touch your tech gear in between washing your hands.

Natural finger oil and dead skin cells are the least of it. You might have food grease or other residue on your fingers. These make a nice environment for bacteria.

Now think about how often you shake hands with people, open public doors or sneeze, and then touch your phone. That happens every day, probably multiple times. Bacteria and other gunk has just been sitting there ... building and growing ... for weeks or months.

Grossed out yet? If multiple people use the gadgets, especially children, multiply the "ick" factor by 1,000.

Studies have shown that phones can have 10 times more bacteria than a toilet seat. A man in Uganda made news in 2012 after he got Ebola after stealing a cellphone from an Ebola patient.

So, clean your tech gear as often as you'd clean any other germ or bacteria magnet. Keep some tech-friendly antiseptic wipes near your computer and phone charger. A quick swipe of your gear the end of the day will keep the nasties down.

2. Having multiple users per account

Having multiple people using the same gadget isn't just bad for cleanliness. It's also not great for security and privacy.

You're giving everyone access to your favorite websites and apps. Browsers can store usernames, passwords and even financial information.

Recently, a toddler made news for buying a car on eBay using her dad's smartphone. Talk about an impulse buy!

On a computer, this is easy enough to prevent. In Windows, go to Start>>Control Panel and select User Accounts. On Macs, go to System Preferences and choose Users and Groups.

You can create as many users accounts as you need. Be sure to make them Standard accounts. This keeps the users from installing dangerous programs.

Multiple accounts keep everyone's information separate. If you have sensitive information, be sure to create a password for your account.

On smartphones and tablets, this isn't so easy. Apple gadgets have no multi-user support. You

THE HIGHLANDS TERRACE Sewing Circle recently donated baby quilts, blankets and booties to the Highlands Regional Medical Center Birth Place. The group knitted the items for the premature newborns/stillborns. The Sewing Club has done many projects in the past, such as sewing quilts for members of local senior citizen residences. But they took special pride in this project. "There is love in every stitch," member Violet Grainger said. Sharon Bryant, president of the sewing club, says that they were only supposed to sew for a few hours but sometimes would work six hours or more without even realizing how much time had gone by. "We all really loved what we were doing," she said.

Five local students are graduate Rogers Scholars

SOMERSET — Five high school students from the Big Sandy region recently graduated from the Center for Rural Development's 2013 Class of Rogers Scholars.

Graduates included Cassidy Cyrus of Lawrence County High School, Kerrigan Samons of Paintsville High School, Subhash Gutti of the Piarist School, and Brooke Dials and Ben Fitch of Sheldon Clark High School.

Cyrus

The students attended a one-week summer session of Rogers Scholars held for the first time on the campus of Lindsey Wilson College in Adair County.

"This program has allowed me to become a better person and to develop critical leadership skills," said Cyrus. "This has truly been an experience of a lifetime."

Cyrus is the daughter of Jimmy and Lee Ann Cyrus.

"Rogers Scholars has taught me what it is to be a true leader and how I can achieve my goals as an influential person," said Samons. "The program also has made me feel more comfortable about meeting new people."

Samons is the daughter of Coy and Ann Samons.

Dials

"The Rogers Scholars program puts you in an environment where you are surrounded by the best intellectual leaders within your age group from all over the state," said Gutti. "It's only inevitable that you make friendships that last a lifetime and learn skills that will be useful in the years to come."

Gutti is the son of Sai and Sujata Gutti.

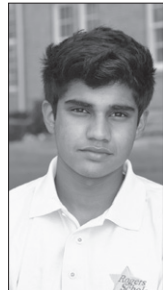

"I will go home with the knowledge everyone involved in the Rogers Scholars program has taught me," said Dials. "My passion is to live, learn, and lead."

Fitch

"I have learned so much from the speakers we had at Rogers Scholars and will apply their valuable information," Fitch said. "This truly was an experience of a lifetime."

Gutti

Dials is the daughter of Eric and Carolea Mills. Fitch is the son of Rhonda Horn.

The Rogers Scholars program provides leadership and exclusive college scholarship opportunities for rising high school juniors in Southern and Eastern Kentucky to realize their full potential as the region's next generation of leaders and entrepreneurs.

"This year's class of Rogers Scholars is an exceptional group of young leaders," said Delaney Stephens, community liaison and youth programs coordinator for The Center. "I have high hopes for all of them as they return to their

by Colby Kirk

On Tuesday, July 9, James Comer, the commissioner of agriculture for the Commonwealth of Kentucky, met with the interns at Inez Deposit Bank. Commissioner Comer is a native of Monroe County, Ky. He served two terms as state representative before being elected to his current position in 2011. Since his swearing in, Commissioner Comer has fulfilled his promise to visit each county in Kentucky and make the Department of Agriculture the most transparent office in Frankfort.

Through many innovative initiatives, Commissioner Comer has gained National attention by enhancing rural economic development through agriculture. He told the Interns about one of the newer projects they are beginning in central Kentucky. The project is called "Udderly Kentucky" and it is very similar to the "Kentucky Proud" initiative. The commissioner said that this program is geared to get products from Kentucky's dairy farmers onto the shelves of bigger grocery stores like Wal-Mart and Kroger. For each gallon of Udderly Kentucky milk sold, seven cents is returned to the 105 farmers that are a part of the program. This will lead to an additional income of around $19,000 annually for these Kentucky farmers. Commissioner Comer said, "People like to know where their food comes from, and as a result there is a vast market for local products."

Commissioner Comer's message to the interns was simple, "Be all you can be! Get as much education as you can, then come back to your local communities and make a difference." He went on to discuss the importance of fighting the brain drain in eastern Kentucky. The Commissioner said, "Many rural areas, especially those in eastern Kentucky, struggle because their best and brightest are leaving." He also hint-

UPIke adds business degree

PIKEVILLE – New opportunities are awaiting University of Pikeville students this fall, including the addition of a bachelor of business administration degree with an emphasis in health care management.

The Coleman College of Business was introduced in July and is the third college under the University of Pikeville banner. In addition to undergraduate business programs, the Coleman College of Business offers an MBA and a master's degree in sports management.

Students at the University of Pikeville may choose from 26 majors, including new majors in Spanish and film and media arts and nine pre-professional programs.

Open registration for the fall semester at UPIKE will be Aug. 15-16 from 8 a.m.-4:30 p.m. The registration process will begin in Armington Learning Center, fourth floor. Classes begin Monday, Aug. 19. Scholarships are still available.

For more information about fall registration at UPIKE, call the Office of Admissions at (606) 218-5251. A complete list of class offerings, the course catalog and other helpful information is available online at www.upike.edu.

have to be careful what you install and view. Anyone who uses the gadget will see it.

Android version 4.2 and up has multi-user support. You can create multiple accounts just like you can with Windows or Mac. The latest version, Android 4.3, polishes this system quite a bit, including easy-to-use parental controls. If you're using a family tablet or smartphone, definitely consider one with Android 4.3 on board.

3. Not taking breaks You're working hard on a time-sensitive project. Hours fly by as you type, your focus never leaving the computer screen.

I'll give you an A for effort, but an F for taking care of yourself.

But wait, aren't focus and hard work good things? Yes, but imagine instead of working, I was talking about a teenager playing a video game. What would you say?

You would tell them that staring at a computer screen for hours will ruin their eyes. Constant button-mashing will give them repetitive stress injuries. They need to get up and walk around to get the blood flowing to their legs.

Just because you're not having fun doesn't mean the same rules don't apply.

Be sure to look away from the screen at a distant object every 20 minutes or so. This takes the strain off your eyes. There are plenty of free downloads that can remind you.

Every hour get up and take a quick walk around. Studies show that sitting for long stretches can decrease your life span. Take the opportunity to shake out your hands and bend your wrists a different way. This helps loosen them up, which reduces stress injuries.

4. Not upgrading If you're a longtime reader, you probably think you know what I'm going to say.

Well, you'd be wrong.

I'm not going to talk about installing regular Windows, OS X or security software updates. Not that updating isn't an essential tech habit, of course.

No, I'm talking upgrading the programs themselves. I know many of you reading this still use Windows XP. You might use Internet Explorer 8 or even 7 as your browser.

Well, it's time to upgrade. I understand why you haven't. Upgrading can cost money. You're used to the way things work. The newer versions might seem more complicated.

Well, those are valid reasons, but at some point enough is enough. And in the case of Windows XP and IE, Microsoft has said enough. They say 13 years of support are enough.

Windows XP's end-of-life date is coming up in 2014. After that, it's receiving no more security updates. It's already missing key security features found in later versions of Windows. This will just make it easier for hackers to attack you.

Internet Explorer 7 and 8 are in a similar boat. They're way behind on security features and they don't work well with newer websites. Plus, they're really slow.

That isn't to say you need to upgrade every time new software comes out. But you do need to upgrade at a reasonable pace. Many people didn't upgrade while Windows 7 was available. Now they're stuck with Windows 8 and its much-steeper learning curve.

5. Treating public Wi-Fi like private Wi-Fi

Public Wi-Fi is great. You can get online with your laptop at the airport, coffee shop or hotel. If you're using a smartphone or tablet, it's a great way to avoid using your cellular data plan.

However, you really need to be careful what you do while using it. Don't forget that it's a wireless NETWORK. That means you're sharing it with other people.

Don't think logging in to an encrypted public network is any better. On your home network, encryption keeps hackers out. On a public network, hackers are just other members of the public. They can log in just as easily as you can.

Some hackers even set up fake public Wi-Fi networks. If you connect, they can monitor everything you do.

Once they're on the same network, hackers might try to attack your gear directly. Most will settle for snooping on your Web surfing. They're trying to grab bank and other log-in information.

Now, this information is encrypted, but hackers are sneaky. They have lots of tricks to break in to your accounts.

Plus, your login might be encrypted, but what about other information? Apps like Instagram have had encryption problems in the past. Imagine if a hacker could snag your photos as you upload them?

As a rule, don't do anything sensitive while using public Wi-Fi. Always assume someone can see what you're doing. Keeping that in mind will help you stay safe.

Bulldogs picked to finish 3rd in Class 3A, District 8

LOUISA — The Lawrence County football team has been picked to finish third in The Cats' Pause 2013 Kentucky Football Yearbook Class 3A, District 8 Preseason Poll. Lawrence County is projected to finish one spot ahead of neighboring Sheldon Clark.

The Bulldogs are ranked behind Pike County Central and longtime frontrunner Belfry.

Lawrence County, following a loss to district powerhouse Belfry in the second round of the Class 3A State Playoffs, finished the 2012 season 5-7.

Senior quarterback/linebacker A.J. Cyrus and senior fullback/linebacker Ricky Goble are both back for the Bulldogs.

During his junior season, Cyrus led Lawrence County in rushing, gaining 1,051 yards and scoring 20 touchdowns via 176 attempts.

The Lawrence County quarterback also completed 35 passes for 521 yards and seven touchdowns.

Goble rushed 173 times for 1,001 yards and eight touchdowns during his junior campaign.

The Bulldogs, under the direction of head coach Joey Cecil, claimed wins over Jackson County, Prestonsburg, Sheldon Clark, East Ridge and Morgan County.

Sheldon Clark faltered last season after winning three of its first four games.

East Ridge has dropped out of district competition and will not compete in Class 3A, District 8 during the 2013 season.

After finishing runner-up to Louisville Central for three straight seasons, Belfry is back on the hunt for a Class 3A state title. Starting quarterback San Warren (990 passing yards, 11 touchdowns), leading rusher Justin Johnson and massive lineman Michael Barnes (6-4, 350) all return for the Pirates.

Senior Trenity Carr and junior Austin Hatfield are also back for the Belfry football team. The trio of Johnson, Carr and Hatfield combined to rush for over 2,600 yards in the 2012 season.

Belfry outscored opponents 582-192 in 2012. Defensively, Belfry held six different opponents to a touchdown or less per game last season.

Much-improved Pike County Central has been persistent in Class 3A, District 8. With several key players back, Pike County Central will look to dethrone county rival Belfry in Class 3A, District 8.

Quarterback Mac Justice (2,480 passing yards, 932 rushing yards) and leading rusher Marcus Johnson (1,329 rushing yards) are both back for Pike County Central.

The Hawks thrived early last season, winning seven of their first eight games last season.

Lawrence County will open the 2013 season at home on Aug. 23 versus non-district foe Boyd County. Kickoff for the Lawrence County-Boyd County football game is set for 7:30 p.m.

JCHS All-American cheerleaders chosen for international parade honors

MEMPHIS, Tenn. — Senior Katherine Wells, juniors Allie Fairchild, Alli Russell and Sara Roberts, and sophomore Haley Mills of Johnson Central High School have been selected as Varsity All-American Cheerleaders and are eligible to join more than 500 high school cheerleaders and dancers from across the U.S. who will perform in the world famous London New Year's Day Parade.

JCHS freshman Sarah Greene has been selected as a Junior Varsity All-American Cheerleader and is eligible to perform in the Philadelphia Thanksgiving Day Parade.

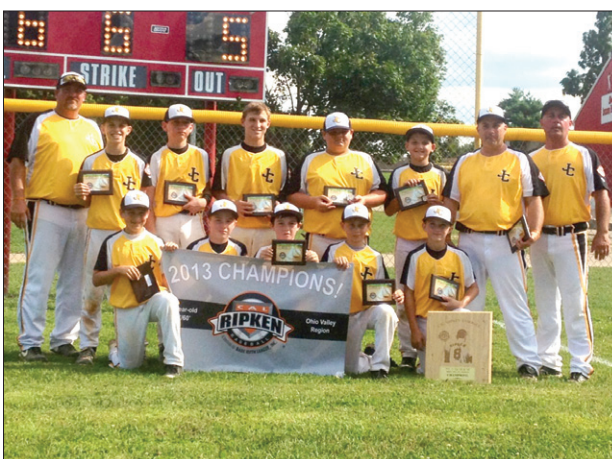

The individuals invited to perform in the parades qualified for the trips after being selected as All-American Cheerleaders at one of the summer camps hosted by Universal Cheerleaders Association (UCA), National Cheerleaders Association (NCA), United Spirit Association (USA), Universal Dance Association (UDA) and National Dance Alliance (NDA). All-American Cheerleaders are selected to try out based on superior cheerleading skills at camps across the country.

In addition to performing in the London parade, the Varsity All-Americans will have the chance to tour London during their seven-day trip.

"This is the 26th year we've been able to bring talented cheerleaders to London, where they can showcase their skills to a very enthusiastic international audience," said Mike Fultz, the Varsity International event coordinator.

The JCHS cheerleaders are led by coach Anita Sturgill.
